PRESS RELEASE / FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Marbella, Spain, 31 October 2026. DEMOSSION is an application created by producer and DJ Matt Correa to organise the demos artists submit to record labels. The Mac version has been available on the Mac App Store since 21 October, priced at €2.99 in Spain.

From scattered documents to one system

DEMOSSION brings together information that often ends up spread across text documents, spreadsheets and notes. It links tracks, labels and submissions so artists can review what they sent, who they sent it to and when, alongside responses and follow-up status.

Your own record label database

With each new contact, producers build their own organised database. Contact details, notes and submission history stay connected to their music, ready to consult before preparing the next demos.

Your information, in and out of the studio

The iPhone (iOS) and iPad (iPadOS) versions are awaiting Apple approval. All three apps include iCloud synchronisation to keep the same information available on Mac, iPhone and iPad.

All three apps for €4.99

Mac, iPhone and iPad are planned as a €4.99 bundle in Spain. Complete My Bundle will credit previous purchases: customers who paid €2.99 for Mac will be able to complete the bundle for €2.00. Availability depends on the mobile releases and on configuring the bundle and obtaining Apple approval.

Availability and contact.
